If All Housekeepers Knew the Advantages of the

Crawford Ranges

few others would be sold

In the saving of time, trouble and labor and in superior cooking ability, no other range can compare with them.

The Single Damper (patented) is the only perfect fire and oven control; one motion—slide the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check," and the range does the rest.

The Two Hods in the base (patented) is a wonderful trouble-saving feature. One Hod for ashes, instead of the old, clumsy ash pan; the other Hod for coal.

The Oven with its cup-joint flues is heated all over alike; no "cold corners," no "scorching spots."

The Patented Grates save trouble and money.

Auxiliary Gas Ranges at the end or above the range, if desired.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"Uncle Dave Holcomb" Coming to Barre Next Thursday.

At the opera house next Thursday, "Uncle Dave Holcomb," with William Lawrence in the title role will play a return engagement. The play is entirely new in conception, treating with a theme that is entirely new to the entire universe, the many complications being woven into a delightful fabric that fascinates all who see it. It has been the aim of the authors to draw the characters close to nature, many of the characters having been taken from real life. The vitality is there and every character in the play is known to exist in the farming communities of old Vermont.

The story of the play is a simple yet impressive one, filled with genuine Yankee humor and touching pathos, the kind that has one crying one minute and laughing the next. A successful attempt is made to show the problems which confront a simple God-fearing farmer in One who watches over us all and his faith is indeed infectious. Even in all of his years of experience the good old farmer finds that he has much to learn. His son's love for an actress, the abandonment of his daughter with a smooth-tongued city chap, his fight for temperance cause, and the reformation of his good-for-nothing brother are brain teasers for Uncle Dave, but he finally triumphs victoriously, without resorting to any serious threats or the use of firearms.

The characters of Uncle Dave, his good wife, Maria, Hank, the village cut-up, Squire Jackson, the tavern keeper and Phoebe, the village organist, are taken from real life and the originals now live in a farming community near Rutland, Vermont. Mr. Lawrence will bring to our city his original metropolitan production easily as produced in Boston, Providence, Philadelphia and all the big cities.

"The Girl from U. S. A."

A new musical drama of unusual brand and gripping interest is "The Girl from U. S. A.," which comes to the opera house next Saturday, matinee and night. The unravelment of the plot creates a series of mental wave sensations, that reach high water mark at the close of the second act, when thunderous applause and persistent recalls cause the curtain to be raised again and again. The climax comes when the fearless American heroine, in a bold attempt to rescue her French girl friend from the clutches of a high Turkish official, finds herself entrapped in the scorching of that dignitary. When life itself seems hopeless, the drum beats and martial notes of Yankee Doodle are heard outside of Yankee prison and the steady tramp of a company of American Jackies heard in the corridor pattered. Then a glimpse of Old Glory is caught and the convulsions and their cringing master cower in dismay. Not for many a day it is said, has a scene of such stirring and blood-drawing interest been revealed on the stage. The singing and acting talent of the company is said to be exceptionally strong and the chorus of brilliant singing voices appears in a lavish display of varied and exquisite costumes.

How Good News Spreads.

"I am 70 years old and travel most of the time," writes B. F. Tolson of Elmhurst, N. Y. "Everywhere I go I recommend Electric Bitters, because I owe my excellent health and vitality to them. They affect a euro every time." They never fail to tone the stomach, regulate the kidneys and bowels, stimulate the liver, invigorate the nerves and purify the blood. They work wonders for weak run-down men and women, restoring strength, vigor and health that's a daily joy. Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction is positively guaranteed by the Red Cross Pharmacy.

Farm and Garden

AUTOMOBILES FOR POWER.

Pleasure Cars May Be Utilized For Farm Work.

Automobiles are coming into use on the farm as a means of pleasure for the farmer and his family. There is nothing more natural than a desire to utilize the splendid power plant contained in a car for other purposes than propelling it over the roads. An ingenious farmer has solved the problem in a manner apparently satisfactory to himself. The farmer devised an arrangement whereby the art of putting the car in its shed places it in position and so associates the wheels with the machinery of the dairy that the engine when started will do the heavy work of running the separator.

The accompanying sketch shows this device so plainly that it is not necessary to describe it other than to call attention to the two rollers, one of which has its shaft extended outside the box to carry a pulley, from which the belt runs to an overhead shaft. It is easily apparent that the revolution of the wheels of the car will cause a reverse motion of the rolls, which is transmitted by means of the pulley and belt to the shaft and thence to the machinery. In this way the wear on the tires is rendered uniform. The grip on the rolls that these tires exercise is surprising.

A peculiarity of this arrangement is that the car shows a tendency to skid from side to side. This, however, is easily overcome by means of props or bumpers, which are put in place so as to limit the sidewise motion of the car within the shed, the mere pressure of the hand serving to move the car easily when the wheels are revolving on the rolls.

In very warm weather or on long heavy pulls it is sometimes necessary to connect the circulating system with the water supply in order to prevent heating of the cylinders.

For sawing wood, cutting feed or any work of an intermittent nature it is necessary for some one to control the engine on account of there being no governor. As a matter of fact, one farmer has a small boy at the throttle most of the time, as the separator is sometimes thrown off without warning.

Utilizing Barn Manure.

Many farmers are beginning to save their stable and lot manure and also to keep enough live stock to make large enough quantities to justify the use of a spreader.

There are few farmers even at this enlightened period who conserve all the available plant food on their farms. There has been much improvement along this line since the days when barns were built without basements and the manure from the stables was thrown outside, there to leach through summer rain and winter snow. Much of the richness of this exposed fertilizer is soaked away into the surrounding soil with the water from rain and snow. The land surrounding these manure piles was often so saturated with this waste as to be unable to support plant life. The strength of this absorbed fertilizer was more than plants could feed upon and live. Experience has proved that manure thus exposed loses in a few months nearly or quite half its value.

With the building of barns with basement cellars a portion of this waste was prevented, but much of the liquid is still lost on most farms. Cemented manure cellars are the exception, yet they pay a big dividend on money invested. Cement is not expensive. Sand can be found on most farms, or at least would cost little, and any intelligent man can mix it and spread it. With a cemented cellar and a proper use of absorbents the liquid can be nearly all saved, and it is of more value than the solid, being more
